Sold-out Camden Conference Offers Satellite Seating at Strand Theatre

By special arrangement, the Camden Conference will provide off-site seating for its 2007 program on Saturday and Sunday at the Strand Theatre on Main Street in Rockland.

For the fourth year in a row, the Camden Conference has filled the Camden Opera House. Building on the success of the “satellite venues” offered for last year’s conference, organizers have provided a single satellite venue for the 20th Annual Camden Conference, Europe: Old Continent in a New World, scheduled for Feb. 23-25, 2007.

Attendees at the Strand will be able to view the Conference on a large high-resolution screen. A Conference board member will facilitate the event, and questions will be transmitted directly to the speakers. Coffee and refreshments will be available. At the close of the Saturday sessions, attendees are invited to linger at the Strand for a wine-and-discussion hour.

The price for attending the keynote address at the Strom Auditorium on Friday evening and two days at the Strand will be $95.

The distinguished speakers for the 2007 Camden Conference include:

- Stanley Hoffmann, keynoter, Director of the Center for European Studies at Harvard;
- John Gillingham, Professor of History at the University of Missouri-St. Louis and historian of the formation of the European Union;
